Legion Alley News

A group attempting to re-establish the Grayling Chamber of Commerce will hold a meeting in the court rooms at the Crawford County Courthouse.

A disappointingly small group of 17 turned out last week Friday night at a meeting called by temporary chairman Ted Haussmann. He opened the meeting and temporary secretary Russell Carlson read the minutes of the last meeting. It was then disclosed that 232 questionnaires had been mailed requesting the recipient to answer a few questions concerning a chamber of commerce. Of this 232, 56 were returned and 7 were returned to the sender as undeliverable for one reason or another.

All 56 were in favor of a chamber of commerce, of the replies returned. All but one said they would support a chamber. Forty-four of the replies said that they felt full time secretary was needed. Only 2 opposed the idea. Twenty-two said they felt such a full time secretary should receive a salary of $4,000 or more per year. As to yearly dues, 20 favor $50 less and 27 favored $50 or more for businesses or commercial enterprises. Dues for professional people should be set at $25 or more per year said 10 while 28 felt it should be $25 or less.

A lengthy discussion followed.

Temporary chairman Haussmann said he felt that although only 23 percent of the questionnaires were returned, it definitely showed that the people of the area wanted a chamber of commerce.

On a motion by John Latusek, supported by Dr. Stanley A. Steely, it was decided to personally contact all persons who were sent a questionnaire and attempt to get the information from those who failed to return a form. The list will be split amongst those who were in attendance with each seeing a proportionate share.

At the meeting this Friday night at 8:00 p. m. it is hoped to have a much clearer picture of the thoughts of the area business people as far as a chamber of commerce is concerned.

State Campaign Enters Final Weeks

Republicans and Democrats both were nervous but determined as they went into the last weeks of the 1954 campaign.

They sent Donald S. Leonard former state and Detroit police commissioner, out to unseat Gov. G. Mennen Williams in his try for an unprecedented fourth term in the capitol.

As they went into the final days of the campaign, the issues are these:

Republican:

1. Leonard would give Michigan a chief executive of the some political faith as the Republican-controlled legislature and end the "stalemate in Lansing."

2. Democrats are claiming cred-

for achievements of the Republican legislature, including the Straits of Mackinac bridge, balancing the budget, improving prisons and mental institutions.

3. Williams is supporting a highway building program long sought by Republicans. The governor wants to name a special commission to spend highway money while Republicans want to turn it over to the highway department.

4. Republicans are answering the state unemployment crisis with greater payments in unemployment compensation, enacted last year by the legislature.

Democrat:

1. Williams stands for building roads now when they are needed and not waiting, as he charges Republicans have, for additional surveys and studies for the needs.

2. Building agriculture by promoting the sale of Michigan-grown products.

3. Williams claims that progress made in his six years in office could not have been possible without a political split between the governor and the legislature. He says he needed the legislature into action.

4. Williams says the only Republican answer to unemployment has been: "Tighten your belts."

The campaigns of each party will be a fever pitch until Nov. 2 when an anticipated 2,500,000 citizens go to the polls in Michigan.

Experts on the political scene at the moment are predicting everything.

They say that Leonard is the strongest opponent the Republicans have put up against Williams since 1948, that with his Detroit background, Leonard can split Democratic urban support.

Others predict a swing toward Williams greater than ever in metropolitan out-state districts that he might carry in with him some others, including a lieutenant governor and perhaps one or two of the state's administrative board.

Campaign trails will criss-cross with both key candidates taking to the air to keep far-distant appointments.

Both parties have complete schedules for all their candidates, with the entire slate getting together at important spots for major platform appearances together.

Senator Ferguson, the Republican incumbent, faces a challenge from a relatively unknown Patrick V. McNamara, a Detroit political figure who became the nominee of the Democrats after the death of former Senator Blair Moody.

Democrats claim that all is peaceful between Williams and McNamara after early difficulties; and the race will be furious.

On the surface, at least, Williams has adopted McNamara wholeheartedly as a running mate and has planned several platform appearances with him late in the campaign.

Republican incumbents on the state level — the attorney general, auditor general, secretary of state and treasurer — are campaigning hard to keep from being unseated by Democrats for the first time since Williams' first term, 1949-50.

Observers are confident that the winner of the gubernatorial race will be far enough ahead to avoid a third consecutive recount.

Best bet: the winner will be ahead by at least $35,000 when all the votes are counted.

At stake in the election is control of top appointive positions in state government.

The Republican Senate refused to act on almost 100 top appointments as a stated policy in the hopes of electing a Republican governor Nov. 2.

We've saved enough so that the next governor can get control of all the top agencies with his appointments in the first two years, said Senator Edward Hutchinson, of Pennville.

And what if Williams returns for a fourth term?

"We'll probably confirm most of them," said Hutchinson. "He will have deserved it if he wins."

Among the agencies the next governor can control by appointment are the Liquor Control Commission, the Civil Service Commission, the Public Service Commission, the Social Welfare Commission and others.

Continue Oil Progress With School Program

As another feature of Oil Progress Week, the petroleum products distributors of Crawford County are bringing a feature presentation titled, "The Magic Barrel" to the high school students in a 10:30 a. m. assembly on Monday, October 25 at the high school auditorium.

The presentation was to be a part of Oil Progress Week but in that the demand for the show was so great, it was necessary to schedule it here at a later time. Grades 7 through 12 will witness the show and parents who are interested are invited to attend. There is no charge for the assembly.

The Magic Barrel will show some of the 500,000 compounds that can be made today from Petroleum. Petrochemists estimate that ultimately this figure is expected to reach one million. The various products in every day use by all of us will be brought out of the barrel. The amount and nature of the products are guaranteed to amaze those watching the presentation. The "Magic Barrel" is brought here through the American Petroleum Institute.

The Basic Idea Behind the All-New

1955 PONTIAC

On Display October 29 and 30

ABOUT 30 years ago General Motors Corporation presented to America a new car called Pontiac. This new car was the direct result of a very specific idea.

The Idea was this: to create a car which took its style, its engineering principles and its features from the very best and most expensive in America—and to build these into a car priced just above the very lowest!

Naturally, such an idea produced a wonderful and highly popular car—a car which millions of satisfied owners have driven with outstanding pride and pleasure.

Now, nearly three decades later, an entirely new Pontiac has been created for 1955—a car completely new from the ground up!

One thing, however, about the 1955 Pontiac remains unchanged—its basic idea—to offer the American public the very finest car that can possibly be built to sell at a price within easy reach of any new-car buyer.

When you see the new Pontiac on Friday or Saturday—Oct. 29 or 30—you will be immediately impressed by its remarkable new styling. No other car in the world looks like this new Pontiac!

When you drive it you will be astonished at its performance. For the 1955 Pontiac introduces the powerful new Strato-Streak V-8, an all-new engine that has already been proved in more than 3 million test miles!

When you price the new Pontiac you will come face to face with the basic Pontiac idea—you will be agreeably surprised that so much car, so much sparkling newness, so much luxury, so much downright goodness can be priced so near the very lowest.

We cordially invite you to come in on Friday or Saturday and see for yourself what a superb all-new General Motors masterpiece has been created to carry the wonderful name "Pontiac" for 1955.

LIKE A SCHOOL WITHOUT A TEACHER!

A small town without a newspaper would be like a school without teacher or a church without a pastor! That striking opinion comes from Professor John H. Casey of the Department of Journalism of the University of Oklahoma. He went on to say this: "In the aggregate, the country newspaper determines the outcome of more elections, exerts a greater influence for constructive community progress, is read longer by more members of the family, and constitutes, with its millions of circulation and quadrupled millions of readers, a better advertising medium than any other group of newspapers or periodical publications.

"Through service to its community, the country newspaper will not merely survive; it will continue to flourish..."

THE AVERAGE STOCKHOLDER

One of our biggest manufacturing companies recently made a survey of its stockholders. It found that 56 per cent of them had incomes of less than $5,000 a year—and that only 10 per cent had incomes above $25,000. The average income of that 56 per cent was a little less than $2,800.

In all probability, the situation in any large company would be about the same. It's certainly time we abandoned the totally false idea that stock ownership is practically the exclusive privilege and prerogative of the rich—and that the earnings of industry are distributed among the wealthy few.

WHAT WILL THE END BE

The August 23 issue of Life magazine contains a photograph of a field of circular tents in Texas. They are on sterilized earth and "inflated" with 1,600,000 bushels of grain each. It is hoped the grain will keep five years and qualify for price support loans.

The warehouses over the nation are full of grain; old ships are being cleaned out and filled with grain, and new tents are being erected.

Foreign nations are taking over our export grain markets. And still the taxpayers put up the money to maintain an inflated price for raising more grain than can be used.

How crazy can a nation get?

ANTI-SOCIALIST POLICY

A definite step forward has been taken in an effort to end federal activities which compete with private enterprise.

This is found in a measure which was unanimously approved by the House Government Operations Committee. It makes this statement of policy: "The Federal Government shall not engage in business-type operations competitive with private enterprise except where it can be demonstrated that it is necessary for the government itself to perform such operations in the furtherance of national programs and objectives legally established."

This policy can save the taxpayers billions. Now let it be backed up with concrete action.

"The United States can do nothing positive in the form of leading the world toward cooperative security, unless it is firm and confident at home." President Eisenhower.

TOPPER OF TALL TALES

Tall tales of the outdoors, including the best efforts of Paul Bunyan's followers, are all put to shame by the story of "Hicken's Fur Bearing Trout," meager details of which we shall supply here. While Michigan, too, has its own claim to a similar fish known as the Prairie Pike, the Hicken's variety is still more fabulous that it will drill holes in the ice. However it can stop instantly by reversing the direction of the fur.

If you haven't heard enough, lend an ear to this: Hicken's Fur Bearing Trout is like people in the spring. The young trout's fancy turns to thoughts of love. The smart fishermen carry photographs, playing love songs to lure the trout to the surface. A quick switch to a Stan Kenton recording at this point will cause the fish to shake themselves to death whereupon they may be picked off the surface of the lake.

For Useful

Our reporter continues: The change of temperature from the lake to the atmosphere is so great that it's beyond the point of freezing. In order to fish it, hooks have to be heated with a blow-torch and then dropped immediately into the lake.

The trout will take only one bait — the "bezel," a very rare specimen found only on Prince Edward Island, living on the sum of the humminbird bird. Nature has provided for this trout trying to survive at extremely low temperatures by giving it a nice coat of fur. When the trout ruffles the fur to add to its resistance, giving the angler the fight of his life! By laying the fur flat, in a stream-lined position, the trout can swim at supersonic speeds causing so much thereafter cooking in an oven at a temperature of 500 degrees for 6 days will make it fairly palatable. To top it all off the fur makes a fine neck-piece which is said to stimulate circulation to such an extent that it's a sure cure for tonsillitis! Such is the legend of Hicken's Fur Bearing trout—a most unusual fish!

Dropped into Smitty's gas station last week and met his new partner who turned out to be a real talker.

"What'll it be?" asked Smitty.

Before I had a chance to answer I heard a strange voice "Fill her up! Fill her up!" And there was Smitty's partner—one of those parakeets perched next to the gas pump.

"Took me a month," Smitty said, "but I finally taught him to say those magic words. It's sure paid off—he's had a good influence on my customers."

LONG-HANDED wax applicators have many uses. Use them for dusting walls, ceiling, dark closet corners, venetian blinds and screens. If a freshly waxed floor is marred by tracks from heavy shoes or overshoes, you can easily remove them by wetting the waxed and rubbing over spots.

Badly scratched furniture should first be rubbed with a scratch remover then polished. Rub the wood long enough for a dull shine so that fingerprints and dust do not show so readily.
